NEWS OF THE HOTELS

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wells, from Southbridge, Mass., arrived yesterday and are at The Hamilton.

The guests of the Hamilton will be entertained on Tuesday evening with a progressive euchre party. It will be a Washington affair.

Dr. and Mrs. James Newcomb and F. S. Newcomb, of New York city, arrived Monday night and are guests of The Despland for a week or two. F. S. Newcomb is a brother-in-law of B. A. Armstrong.

The Lyman Twin Opera Co., who made a special trip down the East Coast to Daytona, returned to St. Augustine Sunday. The Messrs. Lyman were guests at The Hamilton during their stay in the city.

Arrivals at The Despland: J. E. Roe and wife, Elgin Mefflin and wife, Lansing, Mich.; D. C. Jenkins, Pittsburgh; Thos. Krauss, Jr., Columbus; Jas. A. Barker and wife, Peekskill, N. Y.; C. H. Waterhouse, Hull, Mass.

Recent arrivals at The Hamilton: C. Bateman, Washington; H. G. Reed, Newburn, Pa.; M. L. Parker, and sister, Springfield, Mass.; Mrs. Stickey, H. C. Lyman and wife, H. L. Lyman, Louis Schinkel, Brooklyn; J. F. Paulitch, Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rea, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hoene, from Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived Monday night and are guests at the Prince George. Mr. and Mrs. Rea were considerably shaken up in a railroad wreck in North Carolina, but fortunately received no serious injury. The train they were on telescoped another from a branch line.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dranger, of St. Paul, Minn., are prominent people registered at the Prince George. Mr. Dranger is a member of the firm of Clement, Dranger & Co., wholesalers and importers of ladies' wear. Mr. and Mrs. Dranger are very enthusiastic over the beauties of Daytona and are looking forward to future visits.

Yesterday's arrivals at The Ridgewood: Jas. A. Gordan, Miss Gordan, and Mrs. Frederick B. Hyde, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. DeWitt S. Smith, Miss M. C. Grimes, Lee, Mass.; Miss K. D. Duncan, Newark; Mrs. George C. Smith, Kansas City; F. C. Evans and wife, Miss Gertrude Evans, Solomon Oyster, Ulrichville, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Graham-Ward, Philadelphia; Mrs. H. A. Wilkins, Miss Hecksher, New York.

PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE, Feb. 22—M. T. Patillo is spending this week with home folks at Osteen.

Mrs. Harriette Pope, of Haskins, O., has been the guest of Mrs. H. B. Smith for several days. Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Smith left for Osteen Monday where they will be the guests of Mrs. A. T. Patillo until next Saturday.

Recent arrivals at the Port Orange House: Mrs. Francis Barden, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. Wm. K. Harris and daughter and Mrs. Robert Craig, Philadelphia; Paul Shocker, wife and daughter, Providence, R. I.; Dr. A. J. Salmen and son, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Kathryn Jay, St. Mary's, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kendrick, Syracuse, New York; Mr. and Mrs. F. Cushman and Doris, Darien, Conn.; Morton D. Converse, daughter and little grandson, Winchendon, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Haskett, Chicago; and W. S. Harker, New Jersey.

Quite a representative body of citizens met in Ridgewood Hall last Wednesday evening for the purpose of organizing an improvement association. After the selection of Judge L. H. Karn as chairman, and C. F. Reifsnider, as secretary, the meeting settled down to business and a general discussion as to incorporation or co-operation. Quite to the surprise of nearly everyone, strong sentiment in favor of incorporation developed during the progress of the meeting and a motion to adjourn with a call for another meeting for next Wednesday night, for the specific purpose of incorporation was carried by a good majority.

Rather Venomous.

A tenderfoot who visited the Yosemite in the old days thus related his experience: The stage driver found out that he was seriously afraid of snakes and immediately proceeded to make his hair stand on end.

"Venomous reptiles? You bet. I don't know what reptiles is, but them snakes you can just bet your life is venomous. Why, one day I was comin' down here drivin' a wagon when I catches sight of a snake in the brush all ready for a spring. My horses starts, an' I whips 'em up fast to clear the snake, don't you see, afore he could spring. He makes one clear spring, the snake does, an' he misses the horses."

"That was lucky. But you—you?" "Lucky? You bet your life it was lucky. He missed the horses, the snake did, but he struck his fangs clean through the wagon."

"You don't say?" "I do say, and maybe you don't believe it, but it's a fact. He stuck his fangs clean through that wagon, an' that wagon is swelled up so bad that we had to leave it by the wayside and take the horses home."

Now They Never Speak.

A coolness growing out of the following conversation has sprung up between Jones and Smith:

"I had a splendid time last night," said Jones. "I spent the evening at a little social gathering at the Goodman mansion."

"Are the Goodmans nice people?" queried Smith.

"Well, I should say so. They are very aristocratic. To get into their circle one must have either a great deal of money or a great deal of genius."

"You don't tell me so! And you say you were there?"

"Yes."

"You were invited, were you?"

"Of course."

"And to be invited a man has to have plenty of money or a great deal of genius?"

"Precisely."

"Well, Jones, I am very glad to hear you have become rich all of a sudden. Lend me £5."—London Answers.

Antiquity of the Water Pump.

The water pump of today is but an improvement on a Grecian invention which first came into use during the reign of Ptolemies Philadelphos and Energetes, 283 to 221 B. C. The name, which is very similar in all languages, is derived from the Greek word pempo, to send or throw. The most ancient description we have of a water pump is by Hero of Alexandria. There is no authentic account of the general use of the pump in Germany previous to the beginning of the sixteenth century. At about that time the endless chain and bucket works for raising water from mines began to be replaced by pumps. In the seventeenth century rotating pumps, like the Pappenham engine, with two pistons, and the Prince Rupert, with one, were first used. Pumps with plunger pistons were invented by Morland, an Englishman, in 1674 and the double acting pump by De la Hire, the French academician.

Retribution.

"Stand up, prisoner," orders the stern judge.

The trembling culprit, who has been found guilty by a jury of his delighted peers, stands.

"Prisoner at the bar," solemnly declares the judge, "you have been convicted of building house after house containing one of these confounded little boxes called 'reception rooms,' in which there is neither room to receive nor hooks to make it a wardrobe. The sentence of the court is that for the next ten years you shall be confined in one of these alleged reception rooms of your own construction and design!"

Immediately the lawyers for the defendant begin work upon an appeal on the ground that a cruel and unusual punishment has been decreed.—Life.

A Big Help.

The lecturer raised his voice with emphatic confidence. "I venture to assert," he said, "that there isn't a man in this audience who has ever done anything to prevent the destruction of our forests."

A modest looking man in the back of the hall stood up.

"I—er—I've shot woodpeckers," he said.—Everybody's.

Make Some One Happy.

Charles Kingsley thus counseled a friend: "Make it a rule and pray to God to help you to keep it, never, if possible, to lie down at night without being able to say, 'I have made one human being at least a little wiser, a little happier or a little better this day.' You will find it easier than you think and pleasanter."

Ladylike.

A little girl on a train was chewing gum. Not only that, but she insisted on pulling it out in long strings and letting it fall back into her mouth again.

"Mabel," said her mother, in a horrified whisper, "don't do that. Chew your gum like a little lady."—Everybody's.

Webster Made Neat Retort.

As judge made law is now so much discussed, we may recall one of the neatest answers in history, as far, at least, as our own reading goes.

Judge (interrupting Webster's argument)—That is not law.

Webster—It was law until your honor spoke.—Collier's Weekly.

Intercollegiate.

"Not that I love Smith less, but that I love Bryn Mawr," said the junior as he invited a Philadelphia girl to the prom.—Amherst Four Leaf Clover.
